AVIAN (BIRD) FLU

There has recently been a great deal of discussion about Avian, or Bird, Flu and other pandemic influenza. This Wellness Update provides information from the Centers for Disease Control, Iowa Department of Public Health and the United States Department of Health and Human Services web site dedicated to pandemic influenza. Schools are encouraged to use this information about Avian flu to educate their constituents and to plan an appropriate response to any influenza pandemic.

CURRENT FACTS ABOUT AVIAN FLU IN THE UNITED STATES:

- Avian Flu has NOT been found in any birds, humans or other animals in the United States or the American continents.
- Contact with birds in the United States does NOT pose a risk to humans of getting Avian Flu at the present time.
- Eating poorly cooked poultry anywhere in the world is NOT a risk for getting Avian Flu at this time.

CURRENT FACTS ABOUT PANDEMIC INFLUENZA:

- Pandemic influenza refers to a strain of influenza that has the ability to spread across the world.
- From 1900-2000 there were three influenza pandemics, all about 30 years apart.
- The Iowa Department of Public Health tracks different types of influenza that occur and the IDPH has a pandemic influenza response plan.
- There is currently no vaccine for pandemic influenza because no one knows what strain will cause pandemic influenza.

SIMPLE PRECAUTIONS TO HELP PREVENT PANDEMIC INFLUENZA:

- Wash your hands frequently with warm water and soap, scrubbing at least 15 seconds.
- Cover your nose and mouth when coughing or sneezing and use disposable tissues.
- Use alcohol-based hand sanitizer when soap and water are not available.
- If a bird flu pandemic seems imminent, use the elbow or knuckle bump to greet people rather than shaking hands.
- If you are ill, stay home.
